Foreword

We, the students of the Juneau High School, present a pictorial and literary review of the school year, 1944-1945.

As Seniors, we leave behind us our youth and gay times to the prospect of a future of our own and we take with us the immeasurable benefit of four years of education.

As Juniors, we are entering the last half of our high school careers, looking forward to becoming Seniors, and to be thinking quite frequently of the future.

As Sophomores, we still look forward to the days we'll be upper-classmen, and to get better adjusted to a more adult life.

As Freshmen, we are looking at three more years of education, secure in the belief, that because we got through the first year more easily than we thought we would, and because we have become accustomed to a new way of school life, everything's going to be fine.

Dedication

Henry Harmon, Shop Instructor

Whether it's giving his invaluable assistance at a dance, conducting a Boys' Club meeting or teaching shop, Mr. Henry Harmon gives his best to the students in a cheerful, hearty manner. For his unfailing interest in the students' problems and for his helpful advice we dedicate this TOTEM to Mr. Harmon.

We feel that no other teacher is more deserving of this dedication than Mr. Harmon. He has served as Manual Training Instructor, class advisor, Tumbling and Rifle Club advisor for ten years in Juneau High School.

His good humor, advice and helpful assistance will be missed by all the graduating Seniors.

Keep Up the Good Work!

The hearts of the American people are with those boys serving in the Armed Forces, both overseas and on the home front at all times. We are proud of them, more than words can say, and we try to show this by doing our bit at home. And in this respect, Juneau may rightfully lift her head high because she has kept pace with other towns of this Territory and with those of the States.

The Bond drives, Red Cross drives, and other war drives have always reached their quotas here, but more than the fact that we are helping to share the responsibility of preserving democracy is the fine representation we are being given by Juneau and Alaskan boys. No amount of sacrifice and lending can surpass the treacherous journey they are going through or are about to begin. We, the students are brought closer to this insurrection every day because our school friends and buddies are themselves taking up arms and we too can get in there and "pitch."

In view of this, let's redouble our efforts to back our boys in the ranks, especially since this school term will see so many more of our pals in the service.

Citizenship Is Democracy

What are your high school citizenship grades? These grades are important to not only you and your associates, but also your community and nation.

Education is the foundation and the promoter of citizenship.

Americans are great believers in education. The American people spend more money for education than any other country in the world.

Our school system is nationwide. Today there is no American youth who goes without some education. This consists of not only learning from books, but also actual experience. Clubs are set up in which democratic rules of order are followed. These clubs also provide for political and current event knowledge. Debating clubs and current event clubs keep you in step with the times, and enable you to form your own opinions.

These schools must be supported. A good community citizen is willing to support his educational system with money and spirit. Not only schools, but libraries and educational societies as well. As a good school citizen, you, in turn, must uphold the American standards of education.

A Message from Your Superintendent

Ocean waves, pounding relentlessly on the rocks, tide after tide, day after day, year after year ,eventually wear that rock down to the beautiful sand found at its base. A small thread of water starts in the mountains hundreds of miles from the ocean, but on its way it is increased in size by other small threads from other sections and eventually form a fast flowing cutting, rampant river—piling up a delta at its mouth. A small drop of hail lands in a snow field high up on the mountain side and starts rolling down. As it rolls it gets larger and larger and by the time it reaches the bottom it has become a snow slide consisting of thousands of tons of material.

So it is with the educational process. Starting with very little—kindergarten or primary training, gradually adding more each year, up through simple addition, through multiplication tables, through fractions, through square and cube root and percentages, then algebra, geometry, and all the higher mathematics, a student eventually emerges from high schools as a graduate. He can look back on twelve years of elementary education and look forward to more years of education if he so desires. There is much still to be learned. Like the little drop of water that becomes a torrent, the "educational drop of water" that started twelve years ago for seniors has now reached fairly well along the stream's course. It is not yet a river, nor is it a torrent, but it is started. If the process continues a few more years it will have grown into a full-sized river—it will be the "snowslide" that started from a tiny bit of hail. Only perseverence, plugging along, will attain the goal.

Student Council

In charge of the student body affairs is the Student Council, to which every year students from the freshman class to the senior class are elected to various offices. In the year '44 to '45 the following students held offices: President, Linn Forrest; Vice-President, Leslie Hogins; Secretary-Treasurer, Joyce Smith; Faculty Advisor, Marjorie Tillotson; the four Class Presidents: Freshman, Bill Schmitz; Sophomore, Jim Rude; Junior, Dorothea Hendrickson; and Doug Gregg (who was elected to the Senior Class Presidency, but due to his leaving, was replaced by Mary Sperling.) The Editor of Publications, Charles deGanahl, and the Business Manager of Publications, Arthur Lowell; Boys' Club President, Eddy Shaffer; Girls' Club President, Neva Downs, and the Student Manager, Lorene Krause.

The duties of the President of the Student Council are to preside at all Student Body meetings. The vice-president must attend all meetings, and preside in the president's absence, and take charge of certain programs. The secretary-treasurer writes the minutes of the Student Body and Student Council meetings and keeps the account of the student activities. The duties of the faculty advisor is to advise students and the council whenever necessary.

Sitting—Bill Schmitz, Mary Sperling, Joyce Smith, Linn Forrest, Dorothea Hendrickson, Jim Rude.

Gene Hanna

Proficient in everything he does, in school and out, from science to duck hunting, and from Shakespeare to the "public roads gang," Gene Hanna, one of Juneau High's outstanding scholars, will soon depart for San Diego, where he will join the Navy.

During his four years of schooling, Gene majored in English, mathematics and history. His minors were shop and science.

He also took part in many sports activities and miscellaneous doings, such as the Boys' Rifle Club, tumbling, vaudeville three and four, and the Honor Society.

During the past two summers, Gene worked for the Bureau of Public Roads on the survey gang.

Gene's plans for after the war are still undecided, and what type of work he will take up depends a lot on what kind of training he has in the Navy. He has quite a lot of interest in engineering, but he doesn't know where he wants to take up schooling yet.

Norma Morrison

One of the J-Hich cheer leaders this year was Norma Morrison, who was graduated this May.

Outstanding in the field of athletics, Norma went in for Rifle Club, Photo Club, Ski Club, G.A.A., and the J-Bird business staff.

Norma came to J-Hich from Stadium High School in Tacoma, Washington, in '44 and fell right in step. She says that when she arrived in Juneau High she signed up for English, math, science and history as her majors, and language as her minor. Mathematics and science were her pet classes.

Norma plans to join either the Nurse Cadet Corps at San Francisco or go to U. C. L. A. for four more years of school.

When asked how she felt about graduating, she said, "I don't want to; school's too much fun."

Linn Forrest

Linn Forrest, A.S.B. President, enrolled in J-High in September, 1941, as a freshman and was immediately elected class vice-president. He also joined the Boys' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus, the Tumbling Club and the Band.

As a sophomore he was in the Boys' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus, Band and the Tumbling Club.

In his junior year he was elected A.S.B. vice-president and president of the Ski Club. He joined the Photo Club, Rifle Club, Band, the Eight Balls; was on the Basketball Team, was in the Vaudeville and had an important part in the play, "The Great Ben Allah."

He entered his senior year as President of the Student Body. He was also in the Rifle Club, the Photo Club, the Eight Balls, the Ski Club and the Boys' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus. He played in the Vaudeville, played on the Crimson Bears and wrote the sports column for the "J-Bird."

He was graduated with four majors—mathematics, English, shop and science.

Evelyn Spain

A quite vigorous, but small, member of the graduating class is Evelyn Spain. Her curriculum consists of English and history, as majors, and commercial, language, math and science as minors.

Participation in such organizations as the Photo Club, Ski Club, G.A.A., Girls' Club and Girls' Glee Club has occupied much of Evelyn's time in J-High.

She was a member of the editorial staff of the J-Bird in her freshman year.

Evelyn has acquired all her schooling in the Juneau Public School system.

Miss Spain has no definite plans for the future but hopes to be successful in stenography or other office work.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

Bill Harris

A very versatile student is Bill Harris, who, during his school years has been engaged in many activities, including radio, music, photography, and drama.

In the Vaudeville of '44, he performed in the radio act, jazz band, German street band, and Madame Tell Us. In his senior year he played Hartley in the drama, "The Drums of Oude."

For two years he was a member of the Photo Club and served one year as its president. Acting as secretary for the Junior Class was another of his many activities. He was also a member of the Science Club one year. For three years he was a member of the Band. He plays trombone, baritone, and saxophone.

His majors were English, math, science, and music. Minors were Latin and history. He also took a Coast Guard course.

Eddy Shaffer

President of the Boys' Club was the honor bestowed on Eddy Shaffer, a carefree member of the Senior Class. Starting in Grade School and ending up as a Senior were the struggles of twelve long years in school. Eddy majored in history and English, and minored in languages, mathematics and science. He is leaving Juneau as soon as he is graduated.

"Thirty-two credits and not a half-credit to spare," he said. "I am glad to get away from English, world history, and chemistry classes."

The only club to which he has ever belonged is the Boys' Glee Club, for half a year.

"This is due to my bashfulness," he said cheerfully.

Added to his list of achievements is the fact that he had made the highest score in the Senior Class annual reading test. He also made the highest score for the whole Student Body.

Don Pegues

After being graduated from Juneau High School this year, Don Pegues will be inducted into the armed forces of the United States.

Don majored in English, history, and science; his minors were mathematics, commercial, and shop. He was very active in school plays, participating in two, "Headed for Eden" and "Captain Applejack," which made him eligible to become a member of the "Mummers Club" in 1942. Don also was active in music, taking three and one-half years of Mixed Chorus and four and one-half years of Band. As a sophomore, he was elected vice-president of his class, and later automatically became president. Don also was on the editorial staff of the J-Bird for three years.

Don was very prominent in starting the local "Teen Age Club."

Catherine Bumford

Catherine, or "Cathy" as she is known to her friends, has had a varied and busy high school career, during which she has covered quite a lot of territory. She began high school in Wilmore High School, Wilmore, Pennsylvania, where, among other activities, she participated in Glee Club work.

Cathy's charming southern accent verifies the fact that she attended school in her junior year at George Washington High School in Alexandria, Virginia, where she was an outstanding member of the Penmanship Club.

Throughout high school, Catherine has majored in English, history, and commercial subjects. Her minors were mathematics and science.

Besides attending school, Catherine has been employed in the Forest Service, where she does stenographic and clerical work.

Soon after her graduation, Catherine will marry Pfc. Shirl S. Bjork. The couple plan to live in Seattle after their marriage.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

Donald Williams

Ranking as one of the highest among 28 seniors was Don Williams, who was graduated with honors this year.

Don's majors were English, languages, and mathematics. His minors were science and shop.

Besides carrying a full schedule, Don participated in many other activities. He was a member of Rifle Club in his junior and senior years, becoming the organization's president for 1944-45.

He also took part in the annual school vaudeville in his third and fourth years. Don intends to go to college as soon as the war permits, although his academic future is indefinite now. He is interested in mining engineering and plans to make it his career.

Jane Williams

Her interests varying from music to newswriting, Jane Williams has set her eye for an interesting career in the near future, after taking a journalism course at Pacific University in Forest Grove, Oregon.

Jane has majored in science and social science, and also in mathematics and commercial.

Her summers were spent working in the Wrangell cannery for a period of two years, and during all four years most of her time was taken up with the Wrangell Sentinel.

A lover of outdoor sports, Jane is at home on a mountain trail. Swimming also is another interest, and the widely known art of ice-skating.

Following a college education at Forest Grove, Oregon, she intends to obtain a position on the east coast in New York, or in Chicago, doing newspaper writing.

Art Lowell

Art Lowell, capable business manager of the Totem and J-Bird in his junior and senior years, will leave J-High with an active and colorful high school career behind him.

In his line of activities, Art was on the business staff of the Totem and J-Bird, in the Mixed Chorus, and in the Band in his freshman year.

When a junior, Art was Associate Business Manager of the Publications, until he took over the duties of Don Hungerford, Business Manager. He was also on the Student Council, a member of the Rifle Club, in the Mixed Chorus, Boys' Glee Club, and the Eight Balls.

Besides being business manager of the Publications in his senior year, Art was on the Editorial Staff, a member of the Student Council, in the Mixed Chorus, Boys' Glee Club, the Eight Balls, Boys' Rifle Club, and the vaudeville.

Art will be graduated with credits for three majors—English, history, and science; and two minors—math and commercial courses.

Mary Sperling

An active Editor of Publications, and President of the Senior Class, Mary Sperling was responsible for much of the success of the Senior Class in every social function.

Climaxing an invaluable four-year record, Mary Sperling majored in English, history, and commercial, and minored in languages, math, and science.

Being interested in school activities and music, Mary participated in many musical and social clubs, such as: Ski Club, Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, Singing Debs, Vaudeville, G.A.A., Swing Band, Quill and Scroll, Secretary and Treasurer of the Glee Club, Editor of Publications, Honor Society, President of the Senior Class and Student Council. She was also an attendant to the Queen at the Junior Prom.

Mary hopes to attend the University of Alaska in Fairbanks next year, and then go again to Minneapolis to continue with nurses' training.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

Neva Downs

Neva Downs entered Juneau High School in her junior year, and as a senior was elected President of the Girls' Club, an honor not usually bestowed upon a newcomer to a school.

Being president of the Girls' Club entitled her to become a member of the Student Council, and she is respected for the fine work she has done in her office.

The Editorial Staff of the J-Bird and Totem is fortunate in having her as a member of their body and she has done a great deal of writing for this organization.

Neva also belonged to the Girls' Glee Club in her senior year.

At the Senior Ball, she was one of the girls who did a dance in accordance with the theme, and at the annual Junior Prom, was chosen to be one of the attendants to the Queen.

She was also a member of the Debate Team, and was on the affirmative and winning side.

George Shaw

George Shaw, an outstanding and active student, was graduated with honors in May.

He has belonged to the Boys' Rifle Club for all four years of high school, the Science Club in his sophomore and junior years, and in his senior year was elected to the office of president. He acted in the vaudeville in his junior and senior years.

George Shaw has majored in English, history, mathematics and science; his minors consisted of languages.

As soon as school is out, he plans to join the Merchant Marine. His chief love, as well as his hobby, has been drawing boats.

Shirley Kleweno

Shirley Kleweno, who was graduated this May, has hopes of becoming a Cadet Nurse.

While Shirley was in J-High, she sang in the Glee Club and Mixed Chorus, and was in the Christmas Concert in '44.

After being graduated this spring, she plans to go to the Good Samaritan Hospital for three years in order to become a nurse.

Shirley went back to Idaho for a visit during her freshman year. Among her favorite pastimes is dancing and collecting records.

While in J-High, she took English and commercial as majors, and science and mathematics as minors. Science was her favorite, but as for English, well . . . .

Shirley was one of the happiest about graduating when it came to whether she wanted to leave high school or not.

Beverly Lane

Among the more active graduates is Beverly Lane, who, while in high school, was engaged in Tumbling and Science Clubs, and on the Publications Staff. He, as well as being on the Editorial Staff of the J-Bird and in the vaudevilles of '43 and 44, also had an important part in "The Drums of Oude." His majors are English and science, and his minors, mathematics, languages and history.

Beverly regrets leaving "ol' J-Hi" and hopes he will be missed by the students and teachers. When school ends, he wants to become a Marine, and "kill Japs painfully."

After the war, he plans to be a writer and hopes that, who knows? he will write either the world's best epic or even "Great American Novels." He also has plans of entering the University of California, where he hopes to earn a Ph.D. in eight years.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

John Borbridge

As far as John Borbridge was concerned, sports were really tops. In his senior year, John was elected captain of the '45 Crimson Bear Basketball squad. He was an active member of the Boys' Tumbling Club for two years as a sophomore and junior.

John was president of the class of '42 while they were freshmen, and was also a member of the Student Council for one year.

Since athletics was John's favorite pastime, he wrote sports stories for the Totem and J-Bird. He was a member of the Editorial Staff of the J-Bird.

In the annual vaudeville, John took part in acts when he was a junior and a senior.

While in school he majored in English, mathematics and science. His minors were foreign languages and shop.

Since the future is undecided, John has no definite plans except to join the armed forces.

Lorene Krause

Since her enrollment in J-Hi in her junior year, Lorene Krause has become one of the most industrious members of her class.

Lorene entered Juneau High School in September, 1943, having come from Springfield High School, Springfield, Ohio.

English, languages and history have been Lorene's majors, while mathematics and science have been her minor subjects. Besides these, she has taken one year of typing and one year of home economics.

Aside from this well-filled schedule, Lorene has given her spare time to various other school activities. She has been a librarian for two years and was elected Student Body Manager for 1944-45. Lorene has been a member of both the Girls' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus and she also took part in the 1943-44 vaudeville. In addition, Lorene was on the J-Bird staff in 1944.

After her graduation, Lorene plans to go to Anchorage.

Gustav Peterson

Gustav Peterson, dependable senior, will be graduated in May of this year with majors in English and foreign language, and minors in shop, commercial, mathematics and science.

Of all the subjects "Gus" took in his four years of high school, his favorites and most pleasant were shop and bookkeeping.

In the vaudeville of 1943, Gustav performed in an act as a Spaniard. On the stage again in 1944, he was in the annual vaudeville, this time acting as one of four courtiers in "The Girl in the Gilded Cage."

While he was a junior, he sang in the Mixed Chorus and in his senior year he was a member of both the Mixed Chorus and the Boys' Glee Club. Also during the same year, Gustav was a member of the Juneau High School Rifle Club and Ski Club. He also had a part in "The Trysting Place," one of the one-act plays.

Dorothy Thibodeau

One of the more active members of the senior class, Dorothy Thibodeau has been enrolled in the Juneau High School for four years.

Dorothy has majored in English and commercial and has four minors, consisting of language, mathematics, history and science.

During her freshman year, she belonged to the Photo Club, G.A.A. and the Editorial Staff of the J-Bird and Totem.

In her sophomore year, she belonged to the Girls' Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, Photo Club, G.A.A., and the J-Bird Publications Staff.

She was Girls' Club representative during her junior year, as well as belonging to the Ski Club, Glee Club, Photo Club, G.A.A., and the J-Club.

During her senior year she has belonged to the Ski Club, Glee Club, Rifle Club, and Photo Club.

Dorothy reigned as Queen of the Junior Prom this year, and will always remember her crowning as one of her most thrilling moments in high school.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

Susan Helgesen

Being quite interested in Journalism, Susan spent a great deal of her four years in J-Hi working on the Publications Staff. She was on the business staff while a sophomore and on the editorial staff while in her junior and senior years. Through her outstanding work in journalism, she won membership in the Quill and Scroll, an honorary journalistic society, in her fourth year.

Another of Miss Helgesen's fields is photography. She was a member of the Photo Club in '43 and '44 and secretary-treasurer of the organization in '43. Having an interest in music, she was a member of the Mixed Chorus and Girls' Glee Club all through her high school career.

She was on the production staff of "Captain Applejack" while a freshman, and in the vaudeville and the cast of "The Ghostly Passenger" in her senior year.

Charles deGanahl

Charles (Chuck, to you) deGanahl, after three years of hard work on the Editorial Staff of the Juneau High J-Bird, was elected Editor for the J-Bird and Totem.

In his sophomore year, Chuck was a member of the Rifle Club and Photo Club; in his junior year, he belonged to the Photo Club, Rifle Club, Quill and Scroll, and was elected president of his class. While a senior, Chuck belonged to the Rifle Club, Ski Club, and was president of the Quill and Scroll.

Chuck was an electrician in the play "Murder Has Been Arranged," and took the leading part in "The Great Ben Allah." He also took part in some of the acts in the vaudeville during his sophomore, junior and senior years.

Mary Atkinson

With the class of '45 this spring is another of the Atkinson sisters, Mary, the second to be graduated from J-High in three years.

The ambitious, studious, and diligent Miss Atkinson, while spending her four-year term in J-High majored in English, commercial and history. The subjects that she minored in were mathematics and science.

With an interest in music, Mary joined J-High's vocal music groups. She was a four-year member of both the Girls' Glee Club and Mixed Chorus. She was elected to be one of the Queen's attendants at the Junior Prom.

Another of Mary's activities was being a librarian for fifth period while a senior.

Having commercial training and interest, Miss Atkinson intends to find a commercial stenographic position, following graduation.

Daniel Morris

An active member of musical groups, Daniel Morris sang in Boys' Glee Club one year, Mixed Chorus four years, Eight Balls two years, and in his senior year, Dan sang in a quartet in the Christmas Concert.

For the entire four years in the Juneau High School, he was an active and skillful member of the Boys' Tumbling Club.

In his junior year, he was treasurer of his class; was a member of the production staff of the play, "The Great Ben Allah," and in his senior year was a member of the Crimson Bear Basketball Squad, and took part in the play, "The Ghostly Passenger" as Edgar Roof.

His majors were English, science and mathematics; his minors foreign language, commercial and history.

Since he will join the armed forces upon graduating, Daniel's plans for the future are indefinite.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

Lillian Nielson

Known familiarly to her friends and classmates as "Lil," is Miss Lillian Nielson, popular young senior, who is being graduated and hopes to attend a Business College, after making use of her commercial subjects for a year. Miss Nielson has had a year of typing and shorthand and completed her commercial major with bookkeeping. Because of her adaptability and liking for this type of work, she plans to devote her time to a business career.

Other academic interests are a major in English, and minor in language, mathematics and science.

Lillian was one of the six attendants to the Queen at the Junior Prom. She has also been kept busy during her senior year by working at the Baranof, part time.

Robert Ditman

Bob Ditman was quite interested in music, as he was a member of the School Band for four years, and the Swing Band for three years. Bob played the saxophone. Indicative of his activity in that field is the fact that he wrote a music feature for the J-Bird in his senior year.

He was a member of the cast of the annual vaudeville in his junior and senior years.

Bob entered the Juneau High School in his freshman year from Anchorage.

English and science were Bob's majors, and his minors were history, foreign languages and mathematics.

After graduation, Bob plans to join the armed forces. If possible, he will join the engineers or maintenance section of the Army.

Joyce Smith

As a freshman, Joyce participated in Girls' Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, G.A.A., the production of the play, "Captain Applejack," and was representative of her class to the Girls' Club.

In her junior year she also attended Glee Club and Mixed Chorus. The Publications Staff also had her able assistance on the editorial staff of the J-Bird. In this year, she was elected to the Photo Club and the Rifle Club. She belonged to G.A.A., and was Vice-President of the Girls' Club, and was on the production staff of "The Great Ben Allah."

As a senior, Joyce belonged to the Girls' Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, Singing Debs, Business Staff, and was Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Body. Cheer Leader, and a member of the cast of "The Ghostly Passenger."

Pat Fleek

Pat Fleek, a dependable senior, came here from Douglas three years ago, where she spent her first year of high school. She majors in English, history, and commercial; and minors in science and mathematics.

Pat has taken part in many activities, such as Singing Debs, Mixed Chorus, Vaudeville and Girls' Glee Club, of which she was the president.

She belonged to such organizations as Girls' Club, Photo Club and Ski Club. She was Senior Representative for the Girls' Club, and has been on the Editorial Staff for two years, and on the Business Staff for a year.

She was in a play given by the high school called "The Great Ben Allah."

Pat's ambition is to be a stenographer. She was office girl the first semester of her senior year.

Senior Class History

In September of 1931, thirty-five kindergarten tots blithely started out on the rocky road to education. Through the long years of toil to the Eighth Grade their number had increased to fifty-two. In the Fall of 1941, fifty-seven young Frosh enrolled gleefully or otherwise in our fair high school. In their Sophomore year their number had decreased to forty-two. By 1943, two more had fallen by the wayside. And now, the graduating class numbers twenty-eight.

During its four years in J-Hi, the graduating class of '45 has left its mark permanently emblazoned on these hallowed walls, and in many cases, carved in the desks.

As Freshmen, our present Seniors put on a very successful Freshman party with a Hallowe'en theme. This was followed in the Sophomore year with an elaborate Sophomore dance, using a superstitution theme with unusual decorations and entertainment.

The Junior Prom, with a St. Patrick's Day theme, was cleverly decorated with green shamrocks and other Irish symbolisms, while the student body, dancing to the music of Bob Yedder and his orchestra, was entertained by the "8 Balls," singing several familiar Irish tunes.

In the year of 1943-44, Linn Forrest was elected A.S.B. vice-president while Mary Sperling and Chuck deGanahl were voted assistant editors.

In the school play of that year, four of our present Seniors had lead parts, and the school organizations boasted a high percentage of the Class of '45.

In this, their Senior year, the Class of '45 has been very active. The Senior Ball was a winterland theme, with cardboard snow banks overhung with real evergreens, surrounding the dance floor to give the effect of a skating pond. The entertainment, rendered by the Singing Debs, was novel and entertaining, featuring an original dance created by Norma Morrison.

The Student Body President for this year is Linn Forrest. Publications Editors are Mary Sperling and Chuck deGanahl. The Cheerleading Team features two Seniors, Joyce Smith and Norma Morrison.

Although anxious to graduate and eager to start on the highroads of life, the Class of '45 feel a nostalgic twinge at the thought of leaving J-High. "Parting is such sweet sorrow."

Last Will and Testament

We, the 28-strong, do here and now bequeath to our ever-inspiring Juniors, the hopes that they come out as 28 good as we did. To the Wise Fools, we give our prayers to and for, you need them. And last but not least, to the Freshmen, we give our admonition and general advice, or, you'll soon learn.

I, Mary Atkinson, leave an air of quiet dignity to any wishful human beings, including men, who seek an "A" in citizenship, namely Arleen Godkin.

I, Chuck deGanahl, wish I wasn't leaving this fine institution of learning, as my capacity for acquiring knowledge has just been somewhat strengthened.

I, Gene Hanna, am just passing out on good will. To Anne Maver I leave my jestful quips and ability to study.

I, Lillian Nielson, am leaving my "whizo" vitamin pills to Pat Hogue, may they do for her what they've done for me.

I, Linn Forrest, leave by a persuasive force and to Loise Standafer I leave my padded shoulders and elevated shoes.

I, Neva Downs, leave the Girls' Club to the next president, God help her!

I, Bill Harris, leave my mathematical and scientific ingenuity to Buddy Hunter, as he might as well be a jack-of-all-trades.

I, Evelyn Spain, leave my magnetic personality to anyone with the urge to get hitched, only I want it back in three years.

I, Bev Lane, am of too sound a mind to be fool enough to leave anything behind except my ingenious masterpieces on themes, original hand paintings, and one autobiography on "Heh, Heh, Heh, I Done It."

I, Dot Thibodeau, leave my school-girl complexion to Anna Nielsen, complete with my make-up kit of eyebrow pencil, rouge, lipstick, powder, and fake eyelashes.

I, Eddy Shaffer, leave my charming manners, intriguing smile, curly hair, and good disposition to Itchy Davis, "Cause I can't use them anymore!"

I, Shirley Kleweno, leave my toy sail boats to Aggie Tubbs, as I'm getting seasick and tired of bailing them out.

I, Daniel Morris, leave my shining examples to the past, and may they never ketch up to me!

I, Mary Sperling, leave 8 pounds to my little brother, he needs them more than I do.

I, Gustav (Gussie) Peterson, leave mentally decrepit, and with Herb Mead's razor blade.

I, Don Williams, leave this school in a much wiser condition. "Fear not, oh brave ones, I shall come back to save thee."

I, Pat Fleek, leave my ringing soprano to Nathylie Bailey in the hopes she'll bring it up on tune.

I, Lorene Krause, leave Mr. Phillips in a sad state of affairs. I hope the next office girl is as efficient.

I, Arthur Lowell, leave with the Student Body funds and I would have swiped the J-Bird's too, only deGanahl beat me to it.

I, Jane Williams, leave my chemistry class with a wet brow and a holey skirt. May someone else profit with my lab book.

I, Don Pegues, after five years of strenuous labor, heartbreaks, and back talk, make my departure with joyous singing, loud and lustily. I also leave with five years' back rent due. Jerry Moore may have my mattress.

I, Joyce Smith, leave very dubiously, but emphatically. I also leave one

Junior Class

Headed by Dorothea Hendrickson as President, George Mercado, secretary-treasurer, and Mr A. N. Eide and Miss Evelyn Ohlson as co-advisors, the Junior class had a very active year.

Several "hot dog" sales were held throughout the year, and the class also sponsored a hamburger sale.

The biggest event of the year was the Junior Prom which was held March 23. In the opinion of many it was one of the best dances held in years. They also gave a class party on the 6th of October.

Besides being active in class affairs, the Juniors had a large representation in the band, Glee Clubs and other organizations.

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

Senior Ball

Because the date of the Senior Ball was December 8th, the theme appropriately chosen was "Winter."

The dance was held in the gymnasium of the high school, beginning at 8:00 and ending at 11:30.

The decorations consisted of stars suspended between rows of snow balls hung from the ceiling of the room. Evergreen trees bordered the floor on all four sides. Underneath the trees were banks of artificial snow, and concealed under these were spotlights. The bandstand was at one end of the floor enclosed in a picket fence, and above and behind the stand was a clock which recorded the number of the dances.

Refreshments were served from a booth that bore the resemblance of a large block of ice. The booth was surrounded by evergreens and enclosed in a picket fence.

The All Girl Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion. The entertainment was furnished by four of the Singing Debs: Dorothea Hendrickson, Harriet Stonehouse, Loise Standafer and Betty Lou Hared. Six senior girls: Norma Morrison, Patricia Fleek, Mary Sperling, Evelyn Spain, Neva Downs and Joyce Smith. Two other entertainers were Patricia Davis and Daniel Morris.

Patricia and Daniel sang "White Christmas" as a duet, with the Debs joining in on the chorus. The skaters, arrayed in blue and white costumes, did the skaters' waltz.

Junior Prom

The grand opening of a "Club '46" was the theme around which the year's Junior Prom was held March 23 in the high school gymnasium. During the evening Dorothy Thibodeau was crowned Junior Prom Queen.

Dorothea Hendrickson, Junior Class President, and her escort, led the "Grand March," which was directed by Superintendent of Schools, A. B. Phillips. All the dancers participated in the march.

The high point of the evening was reached when Dorothy Thibodeau was crowned Queen of the Junior Prom by Dorothea Hendrickson. Queen Dorothy's attendants were Mary Sperling, Lillian Neilson, Evelyn Spain, Mary Atkinson, Joyce Smith and Neva Downs. Crown bearer for the ceremony was three-year-old Kathryn Hared. After the coronation, according to custom, the Queen and her escort danced the "Queen's Waltz." This year's monarch was presented with a bouquet of tulips and narcissus by the junior class.

A "floor-show" starring Frances Barlow and featuring a dance by Pedro and Katherine provided the entertainment. The program was opened as Frances sang "Stormy Weather." This was followed with a tango dance by Pedro Barril and Katherine Stevens. In conclusion Frances again stepped to the spotlight to sing "Honeysuckle Rose." The accompaniment for these numbers was played by Joann Wolfe.

A lighted sign, stating "Club 46" and a uniformed doorman greeted Junior Prom guests as they entered cafe society for an evening. Giving a smooth effect was the color scheme of black and white which was carried out in every part of the room. Attached to a huge ball suspended in the center of the gym and to the sides of the ballroom were alternating streamers in these colors, which made up the false ceiling. Tables for four encircled the dance floor and one wall was decorated with murals of modernistic designs, drawn by Joyce Smith. A bar, from which punch and cookies were served, was placed in one end of the room, directly facing the stage and the orchestra pit.

Added touches were waiters, waitresses, bartenders and hat check girls. The parts were filled by grade school students.

Providing music for the dancers was Peterson's orchestra.

Those receiving invitations to the prom were the parents of all juniors and student body officers, also the high school teachers and members of the school board.

The general planning committee for the prom was made up of the whole junior class. The decoration committee was composed of Loise Standafer, Patte Davis, Bill Carlson, Betty Lou Hared, Leslie Hogins and Jim Klein, while the complete class took care of the actual decorating. Those on the entertainment committee were Pat Hogue, Nathylie Bailey and Tom Williams. Other committees were lights: Victor Hardin and Fred Prouty; programs: Priscilla Peterson; and invitations: Rosie Maier, Agnes Tubbs and George Mercado.

Mr. Henry A. Harmon supervised the construction of the setting, while the class advisors, Miss Evelyn Ohlson and Mr. A. N. Eide, were in charge of the room itself.

Publications Hop

The publication staff of J-Hi presented its annual dance on Oct. 27. The theme for this year's dance was "Hard Times." The dance was well attended by the student body, dressed in the most convincing manner possible. Several alumni and some servicemen were present.

The decorations followed closely a hard times Hallowe'en idea. The entertainment consisted of singers giving forth a very sob-like arrangement of "Hard Times." Second on the entertainment list was Lois Hared, who sang "Time Waits for No One," accompanied by Joann Wolfe at the piano.

During intermission, a miniature edition of the school paper was issued. The paper was a high school editor's dream. It contained "Cheesecake," his own jokes and views of the faculty. The paper was printed under the title of the "J-Bird Junior." Also during the intermission, refreshments in the form of cider and doughnuts, were served. This also added to the Hallowe'en touch.

A thriving enterprise flourished in the back of the dance floor, which consisted of a photographer's studio conducted by Bill Harris and Mr. A. N. Eide.

Committees for this dance consisted of the entertainment and music committee, headed by Mary Sperling. Decoration and clean-up committees were headed by Associate Editors, Betty Lou Hared and Jim Klein. Lois Hared helped serve the refreshments.

Business Manager Art Lowell and Editor Chuck deGanahl headed the committee that produced the J-Bird Junior.

The whole affair was under the supervision of Mr. R. H. Byrns.

Class Parties

The Senior Class Party was held at 8 p. m. in the grade school gymnasium on Friday, October 13. Defying old time superstitions concerning Friday the 13th, a good crowd was on hand to take part in the games, refreshments, entertainment and dancing. The party was under the supervision of Doug Gregg, Senior Class President.

The Junior Class, under the presidential leadership of Dorothea Hendrickson, started off the year with their class party on Friday, October 6. The party was held in the Grade School Gymnasium, starting at 8 p. m., and lasting until 11 p. m.

Refreshments and entertainment were provided, and plenty of fun for the large attendance on hand.

The Sophomore Party, held Friday, October 20, at 8 p .m., in the Grade School Gym, was another credit marked up for the progressive Sophomore class. Under the leadership of Jim Rude, president, the class succeeded in making a very enjoyable evening for the students and friends on hand.

Under the supervision of Bill Schmitz, class president, the Freshman class of Juneau High School gave their first school social function, in the form of a regular class party, Friday, November 3, at 8 p. m., in the Grade School Gym. Although it was their first attempt at entertaining the other classes, the Freshmen literally "came through on top" by presenting a very successful party.

Basketball

Juneau High's Crimson Bears played twenty-three games in a season that extended from October 25th to March 17th.

J-Hi fielded a scrappy aggregation that was weakened in the early part of the season by the loss of Ken Kearney, who left here shortly after the fifth game to join the Coast Guard, and the temporary absence of two lettermen, who were suspended for a good part of the season because of an infraction of training rules.

An outstanding achievement was scored by the Crimson lads, who compiled the impressive total of nineteen consecutive home-court victories before meeting defeat.

Although fighting hard, the Bears were denied victory in the City League tournament and thus lost possession of the title that had been theirs the previous year.

The annual Channel championship series between Juneau High and Douglas High School resulted in victory for the Huskies for the first time in thirteen years in a series that extended the full five games before the eventual winners were determined. The closeness of the hard-fought set of games is shown by the fact that four of the five contests were won by a margin of five points or less. Curious to note was the fact that neither team was able to register a home-court victory until the "crucial fifth game," which the Huskies won after two over-time periods.

J-High had a decided first-quarter weakness, as can be shown by comparative statistics. Douglas collected a total of forty points in the five initial quarters of the five games, to twenty-three scored by the slower-starting Crimson Bears.

The scores of the Juneau High-Douglas High series games were: 15-13, 25-39, 25-20, 21-22 and 22-24.

The Crimson Bears, who had a decided bent for doing things in chunks, were occupied with breaking various losing and winning streaks during the past campaign. Six of the thirteen games dropped by Juneau High were by a margin of four points or less.

Boys Intramural Sports

This year's annual inter-class basketball tourney met with great success. As a supplement to this event on intramural volleyball, teams had no restrictions as to players, as the basketball teams did. The only persons allowed to play in the intramural basketball were those that didn't have their names in the score book of this year's inter-school and town team leagues. The volleyball teams, however, didn't have these restrictions, and varsity ball players were permitted to play.

In the basketball tournament, the first two games were played for elimination between all four classes. In these first games, the Sophomores beat the Seniors and the Freshmen won over the Juniors. Both games were won by large scoring margins. In the playoff game, the Freshmen beat the Sophomores, thereby winning the title of intramural basketball champions of 1944-45.

The volleyball contest was much different as to its outcome. In the first two elimination games, the Juniors beat the Freshmen and the Seniors beat the Sophomores. The Seniors, in turn, lost to the Juniors in the playoffs, thus giving the Juniors the title of volleyball champs.

The intramural teams were coached by students of their respective classes, under the supervision of Coach C. L. Anderson, head of boys' athletics in Juneau High.

Dates of the contests were as follows:

Basketball—The 28th and 29th of March.
Volleyball—The 2nd of April.

Scores of these games were as follows:

Basketball—
Frosh vs. Juniors—44-22.
Sophs vs. Seniors—31-16.
Frosh vs. Sophs—36-25.

Volleyball—
Juniors vs. Frosh—21-17.

Rifle Clubs

The Boys' and Girls' Rifle Clubs, with a combined membership of forty-three, participated in an exceptionally active year. Through the efforts of Mr. Henry Harmon, supervisor for both organizations, they were able to obtain sufficient ammunition for the year and to use a new and better range.

Several competitive matches were held between the Boys' Rifle Club and the Alaska Territorial Guard. Although less experienced, the high school team showed little nervousness and lost by only a very small margin.

Gun nomenclature, safety with firearms, proper shooting positions, and the care of guns were only a few parts of the training program carried out by Mr. Harmon. This intensive training has aided greatly in the advancement of all the members in the marksmanship program. Charles Linehan, class of '44 was the first J-Hi student to attain the position of expert rifleman and set a goal for which all have worked and which several have achieved.

Officers for the Boys' Rifle Club were: President, Don Williams; Secretary, Jim Klein. The three returning members of the Girls' Rifle Club are Joyce Smith, Betty Lou Hared and Pat Fleek, who constituted the governing body for that organization.

Tumbling Club

Even though lacking a period in which all the tumbling classes could practice at once, Mr. Henry A. Harmon's tumbling class did honors to itself at the high school vaudeville.

This year's team was very proficient in forward rolls, backward rolls, and high dives and individual stunts done by a few of the boys. This year Mr. Harmon awarded three letters to the three graduating Seniors: Danny Morris, Gene Hanna and Beverly Lane.

Under the leadership of Neva Downs and Edward Shaffer, presidents, Dorothea Hendrickson and Herb Mead, vice-presidents; and with the help of Mrs. A. B. Phillips and Mr. Henry A. Harmon, advisors, the Girls' and Boys' Clubs, through their committees sponsored many activities this year.

Among the activities put on were the Boys' Club feed, Girls' Club Tolo dance, Teacher's tea, Mother's tea and Big and Little Sister party.

The purpose of these organizations, to which every girl and boy in J-Hi belongs, is the promotion of fellowship among and between them, and to interest them in our various school activities.

Publications

Heading the publications staff this year were Chuck deGanahl and Mary Sperling, editors, and Art Lowell, business manager. The editorial department, under the advisorship of Richard H. Byrns, junior and senior English instructor, was responsible for the articles published in the J-Bird and Totem. The business department took care of all advertisements and circulation. Miss Marjorie Tillotson, mathematics instructor, was the advisor of the business department.

Approximately ten issues of the J-Bird were published this year, each about three weeks apart.

Associate Editors Jim Klein and Betty Lou Hared had the task of securing assignments for stories on the various recent occurrances about the school. These articles had to be accepted by them before being typed. After the articles for publication had been correctly written and typed, they were sent down to the Empire Printing Company to be printed. The printed galley proofs were then returned and were proof read by the various members of the two journalism classes, and other members of the staff. The paper was then made up as it was to appear in printed form on a "dummy" by Editor Chuck deGanahl, with the assistance of the associate editors. This "dummy" was used as a guide in setting up the galleys.

While the editorial department was getting its stories printed, Art Lowell, of the business staff, was out canvassing for new ads for the J-Bird and renewing old ones. After the mats for the ads had been cut and the forms set, the presses were ready to roll.

The papers were printed usually on Friday morning and were then brought up to the various subscribers by members of the business staff during the sixth period.

Loise Standafer, assistant business manager, had charge of the circulation.

Quill and Scroll

With only two returning members at the beginning of the school year, Quill and Scroll, International Honor Society for Student Journalists, has initiated five members into the society during the latter part of March. Officers were Chuck deGanahl, president, and Mary Sperling, secretary-treasurer. New members in the Society are Jim Klein, Betty Lou Hared, Jim Wright, Loise Standafer and Susan Helgesen.

Quill and Scroll was organized to further the aims of the high school teachers of journalism and to recognize and reward the work of the individual student journalist. The society numbers over 2,500 chapters, established in every state and territory of the United States, and in Canada, Australia, England and New Zealand. Forty thousand young journalists from schools which are outstanding in the quality of their publication work, wear a badge of the society.

MEMBERSHIP

According to the constitution, members of the Quill and Scroll must be chosen from the students enrolled in high school who at the time of their election meet the following requirements:

1. They must be of at least junior standing.
2. They must be in the upper third of their classes in general scholastic standing at the time of their election.
3. They must have done superior work in some phase of journalistic or creative endeavor.
4. They must be recommended by the advisor or by the committee governing publications.
5. They must be approved by the Executive Secretary of the society.

There are no dues. When a candidate is accepted for membership he pays two dollars. This amount goes to pay for a gold badge, a membership certificate and a year's subscription to QUILL AND SCROLL MAGAZINE.

Music

Under the direction of Mrs. Forrest N. Pitts, music instructor in the Juneau Schools for the past six years, Juneau High had five singing groups this year.

The Boys' Glee Club, the first one in Juneau High School in four years, had twenty-six members and was accompanied by Harriet Stonehouse.

The Girls' Glee Club, which had a membership of forty-seven, was accompanied by Joann Wolfe. The mixed Chorus, with Patte Davis as accompanist, had sixty boys and girls.

There were two smaller groups of singers, the Singing Debs, with twelve girls, and the 8-Balls, a group of boys. These singers are selected from the Mixed Chorus and Glee Clubs.

December 20 and 21 were the dates of the first public performance, the Christmas Concert. It was a series of tableaux entitled "Through the Christmas Window," in which 230 students took part, including the seventh and eighth graders.

The Spring Concert, held April 13, was for the first time, held with the Band Concert.

Student Plays

Comedy! Melodrama! Mystery! For the first time in many years, J-Hi students presented a different kind of ninety-minute entertainment. Breaking away from the traditional one three-act play, the actors exhibited three one-act plays. March 2 was the date of the event that was held for the public in the Grade School Auditorium at 8 p. m.

Miss Mary V. Morris very ably supervised the play and was the make-up artist for the cast. She was assisted by three student directors—Dorothy Thibodeau, Bill Harris, and Beverly Lane.

"The Trysting Place," a comedy by Booth Tarkington, was greatly enjoyed by the audience, as it was so typical of life. It involved the amusing love affairs of a widow and her daughter and son.

The scene was in a supposedly secluded corner of a large hotel where Lancelot Briggs (Walter Kleweno) unsuccessfully wooed Mrs. Curtis (Norma Morrison.) The two were interrupted by the entrance of Jessie Briggs (Joann Wolfe) and Mrs. Briggs, (Mary Sperling). This embarrassing position forced Lancelot Briggs to hide behind a settee. Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Briggs left while Jessie remained to keep an appointment with her beau, Rupert Smith, (Bill Vernon). This rendezvous was also broken up by the reappearance of Mrs. Briggs, with Rupert hiding behind another chair. Jessie leaves and Mrs. Briggs waits for an old friend, Mr. Ingolsby (Gustav Peterson), who promptly asks for her hand in marriage. Just at this crucial moment, a mysterious voice asks for peace and quiet. In the confusion that followed, Rupert and Lancelot were discovered. The play closed with the stage deserted except for Mrs. Curtis and the mysterious voice, her original date.

The drama, "The Drums of Oude," by Austin Strong, was set in a fort of a small settlement in India in the year 1875.

The scene opened in a store room, which had been hastily furnished as living quarters. In the background, through an arch, the sentry, Stewart (Dudley Smithberg), could be seen on sentry duty.

Suddenly the British officer in charge, Captain McGregor (Beverly Lane), entered and threw back the rug to reveal a trapdoor, beneath which was the powder magazine. Replacing the rug, he sent for Lieutenant Hartley (Bill Harris) and ordered the two Hindustani servants (Bill Vernon and Tommy Williams) to bring supper for two. Sergeant McDougall (Richard DeBoff) entered, and McGregor ordered him to double the guard.

Hartley left to telegraph for help while McGregor stayed to guard the powder. Suddenly Mrs. Clayton (Susan Williams), the sister of Hartley, and a widow, dashed in to beg that McGregor protect her from the natives. McGregor calmed her with false assurances, and told her of his love for her. As they kissed, Hartley dashed in to whisper to McGregor that the telegraph wires had been cut. McGregor sent Hartley to defend the walls and told Mrs. Clayton of the danger. He was just lighting the fuse to blow up the powder magazine when Hartley dashed into the room to tell them that a Highland regiment had come in time to quell the rising rebellion.

The mystery-comedy, "The Ghostly Passenger," by Millard Crosby, took place at a summer cottage of an average American family.

It began with the piercing scream of Mrs. Owens (Susan Helgesen), who was terrified to find the lights turned out mysteriously. Her son, Spike Owens (David Sperling), came rushing in to complain of the noise. He then terrorized Dixie (Beverly Earl), the fearful colored maid, with stories of the ghosts next door. Mrs. Stillman (Joanne Nowell) and her daughter, Erica Stillman (Pat Hogue), who were neighbors, stopped in to inform Mrs. Owens that some slick thieves were in the vicinity. After they left, Clarice Jackson (Joyce Smith) and Edgar Roof (Daniel Morris) entered to look the place over and decided to play a wife and husband act to gain admission to the house. Clarice introduced herself to Mrs. Owens as Mrs. Roof who was looking for her husband. Mr. Owens, (Rick Larson) entered and the action continued along these same lines until the last scene when kidnapers, who were hiding in the house next door, were captured by Spike.

(Second Row)—(1) Wally DeBoff, Bill Lonz and Robert Larson. (2) Pedro Barril and Tommy Williams. (3) Claire Folta, cold? (4) aMrilyn Jewett's pride and joy.

(Third Row)—(1) A.S.B. Forrest looking wolfish. (2) Mary Weatherill's beans. (3) Diane Hunsbeth in "pistail" days." (4) The Wright Brothers. (5) Lucky for those suds Buddy Hunter!

(Fourth Row)—(1) Triz Class is star gazing. (2) Doris Graves. (3) Troubadors Ric Larson and Doug Gregg. (4) Jean Thompson looks happy.

(Filth Row)—(1) Click! Chuck deGanahl. (2) Jerry Moore, George Shaw and Bill Carlson, alias Clark, Errol and Pawne. (3) Class of '47.

School Calendar

September 5—Hi,—Long time no see! Students eagerly renewing old acquaintances, teachers wondering if it will be much worse than it was last year, Freshmen all excited and Seniors looking very superior. Yeah, it's the first day of school! !

September 15—First Student Body meeting is held with Linn Forrest presiding. Mr. Phillips presents service flag, gift of the departing Senior class.

September 19—do re mi . . . Mrs. Pitts gets started with her musical groups again. Gals and guys busy trying to loosen up their misused vocal chords.

September 29—Sales girls turn on the old charm to boost the J-Bird sales.

October 2—"What am I bid for this little surprise package?" Miscellaneous articles collected around the school last year are auctioned off to the student body. Sales included a life-time pen for two-bits and an empty note book for two and one half bucks.

October 3—Class elections held. Following students were elected presidents of their classes: Senior, Doug Gregg; Junior, Dorothea Hendrickson; Sophomore, Jim Rude; and Freshman, Bill Schmitz.

October 12—Student Body donates $25 to War Relief Drive in the name of Leroy Vestal and Jacob Britt. Smith, Hogue and Morrison yell like mad and are elected cheer leaders of J-Hi.

October 18—Alaska Day. Holiday! 'Nuff said.

October 20—Seniors take charge of stamp booth for first sale.

October 25—We play the Alumni for the first game of the basketball season. Hurrah, they lost and we won.

October 27—Everyone attended and looked their "tackiest" at the "Hardtimes" Publications Hop. Mr. Eide and Bill Harris had a big time in their little photo booth.

October 30—Students informed of requirements for joining the "Triple H Club." Very quiet Hallowe'en, so no members.

November 14—New members sign up for the Ski Club. Oh well, they didn't want to live anyway.

November 18—First meeting of the Girls' Rifle Club held with eighteen new members.

December 1—Blackface act, songs, laughs, dances and all kinds of fun. Annual vaudeville is put on for a "full house." Wasn't Linn just too fetching in those long blond curls?

December 5—Future homemakers show their stuff at the Girls' Club cake sale. M-m-m-m-m, what delicious stuff.

December 8—Ah Winter! Seniors do wonderful things with it for their Senior Ball.

December 21-22—Annual Christmas Concert. Singers now think it was worth those terrible 8 o'clock in the morning meetings.

December 22 to January 2—Oh Joy, Christmas Holidays.

January 6—First over-night hike of the Ski Club. Boys perfectly willing to choke the "giggling girls" for the sake of a few hours' sleep. Lots of eating and skiing enjoyed the following day.

January 14—"Right this way for your ice cold cokes," bellows Jim Klein. Just another feature of those super Rifle Club hot dog sales.

January 17—Report cards. Oh Oh! Now I will never get out of the "dog-house."

January 24—Linn and Chuck obligingly make "gruesomes" to get students to smile for the Totem pictures.

February 9—The girls give their Annual Tolo Dance and the boys really do take advantage of it.

February 20—Deciding game between D-Hi and J-Hi. Many students hoarse before they even reached Douglas from singing or shouting school songs. Douglas won the game, and also a chance at the championship, by two points.

February 21—Debate "Should 18 Year Olds Be Able To Vote." Norma and Bill Harris were really on their toes, or was it each other's toes? Judges voted the affirmative side the winner.

March 16—Ketchikan is introduced while the girls of J-Hi sigh at the team and the boys of J-Hi just sigh (you guess at what.)

March 20—A comedy, a drama, and a mystery. We put on three one-act plays. Student audience heard commenting on how suave Lane looks with a pipe and how nice it would be to sooth little "Dixie" Earl's ruffled nerves.

March 23—Everyone attended the gala opening of "Club '46" to see the crowning of Prom Queen Dorothy Thibodeau, and her six beautiful attendants. Crowded tables, low lights and soft music gave the proper atmosphere.

March 28—Students suffer near starvation from just smelling the delicious odors that are wafted up from the Home Ec room where Mr. Phillips is busy cooking for the Boys' Club Feed.

Betting started on the Intra-mural basketball games.

April 13—Annual Spring Concert is given combined with the Band. Those participating in the concert stay afterward for a big feed.

April 20—Student Body Frolic. The last big dance of the year was very well attended and a good time was enjoyed by all.

April 27—The grade school put on its May Fete.

May 4—Members of the Girls' Club give their mothers a tea.

May 20—Baccalaureate.

May 14, 15 and 16—Senior Exams.

May 17, 18 and 21—Exams for everybody.

May 22—Refunds.

May 23—Commencement and LAST DAY OF SCHOOL!

Senior Class Prophecy

Twenty years hence . . . .

DON WILLIAMS just announced from his Montana Creek prospector's cabin that he has completed his most successful mining year in twenty seasons. In a financial statement to his investor he reported a profit of $3.68 (not counting expenses of $48.32.)

Out-William-Telling William Tell, GEORGE SHAW finally succeeded in shooting a pumpkin off his wife's head from a distance of fifty yards. Said crack-shot Shaw, "It took three wives to learn that my sights were low, but on the fourth I raised my sights two clicks and hit the pumpkin instead of the wife."

Reading the Paris "Le Soir," we discovered that LILLIAN NIELSON just announced that she was engaged to the French multi-millionaire Monsieur Monni Baggues.

After twenty years' strenuous work, MARY SPERLING was advanced to chief typist of the Juneau Office of the Canadian Steamship Lines.

BEVERLY LANE gained fame and fortune from his recent classic, "How to Outwit the Income Tax Authorities."

The Board of Prisons announced the appointment of ART LOWELL to the wardenship of Sing Sing. Said Lowell on being interviewed, "I always wanted to be a school principal, but I guess this is the next best thing."

Radio station manager JOE PEGUES, of Station KPU fame, just announced that his station was raised from five to seven and a half watts power.

Winning thespian honors for J-Hi, Alumnus GUS PETERSON took the

Juneau-Douglas City Museum

Academy Award "Oscar" hands down this year for his superb romantic performance in "My Darling Come Back to Me Before I Marry That Floozy From St. Louis."

LINN FORREST and CHUCK deGANAHL were paroled after serving fifteen years of a thirty year term for illegal distilling of "wildcat juice." On release the two said: "During our sojourn in the can, we figured a way to take out the taste of burnt rubber from our product. Soon our wares will again be on the market. Just knock three times and ask for Joe."

After winning $2,303.25 for naming football All-Star teams, JOHN BORBRIDGE says he plans to retire.

Having held the "Miss Legs" title for twenty years, EVELYN SPAIN finally lost to a younger specimen.

ED SHAFFER was hauled into court on a charge of selling ground-up puppy under the name of "choice hamburger." He pleaded innocent.

Brilliant novelist, MARY ATKINSON'S new work, "And Now Day After Tomorrow" is almost ready for the publisher.

Artist JOYCE SMITH broke all precedent by painting a figure with clothes on. Said the feminine Rembrant, "I thought the world needed something besides the bare facts."

The DANIEL MORRIS Construction Company finally managed to dig their tunnel to Douglas. "Imagine my surprise when we came up on Admiralty," the tunnel magnate said.

After a brilliant career in the Navy, BILL HARRIS was finally promoted to ensign. Said the future admiral, "They never told me you were supposed to tie a ship to the dock, I thought they just stayed there. But now I know."

GENE HANNA was knocked out for the 435th time the other night, in his quest for the atom weight championship.

Master Mechanic BOB DITMAN worked on a car for twenty-eight hours straight and finally diagnosed the trouble as a flat tire.

Winning the Olympic ski jumping contest, was DOROTHY THIBODEAU. Said she of the event, "I was just watching the contest when I lost my glasses. I slipped and the first thing I knew, when I landed, a bunch of guys handed me the award."

After twenty years of lavish campaigning, NORMA MORRISON was elected to the office of police matron. Said the matron-elect: "The juvenile delinquency problem is appalling. Why, at 10:30 last night I saw three high school students in Percy's. I guarantee that I will remedy this situation."

Happily married and growing vegetables on the Yukon is CATHY BUMFORD. Said she of her enterprise, "I am growing potatoes as large as marbles; of course there are a lot of small ones, too."

Advanced to printers' devil at the Juneau Empire is JANE WILLIAMS. "Brawny Jane" as she is known to her journalistic associates, is the first female in the history of the paper to hold down this position.

We notice in the Police Journal that NEVA DOWNS was fined twenty-five dollars for speeding her rocket car through a stop sign.

SHIRLEY KLEWENO is trying her best to revive Vaudeville. At the present she is doing a blackface act at a night club in Thane. When interviewed, she said, "Now I know why vaudeville is dead."

LORENE KRAUSE is at present still recuperating from the graduation party.

SUSAN HELGESEN has been married to the King of England for five years, and is at present planning to poison the old gent for his gold teeth. Said the Second Wally of her beloved spouse, "He is a stinker, but he has got money."

Operating the only profitable trap line on Douglas Island is PAT FLEEK. She trapped twenty-eight furs last winter and says of the venture, "People are dumb enough to let their dogs run wild."

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

bone, five ligaments, and a joint on the gym floor. Anyone finding them please deliver C.O.D. to me. Reward.

I, John Borbridge, leave my squad and coach future championships. If you ever need help, feel free to call on me.

I, Norma Morrison, leave my parents to the team, also our cookie jar and anything else those scavengers desire.

I, George Shaw, am quite uncertain about even leaving myself, but in case of a mixed diploma, Earl Crass may have my Incense Burner.

I, Catherine Bumford, leave for the State of Matrimony. To my classmates I leave an "Au Revoir" and "Come up and see me sometime."

I, Susan Helgesen, leave perplexed. To Mr. Byrns I leave my electric baby-tending machine. It can do everything from feeding the baby to folding diapers.

This ends our wills and testaments. It was all drawn up perfectly legal and with witnesses. Oh yes, we have one more will lying here at the bottom.

I, Bob Ditman, leave my public the book on "The Perplexities of Mankind," or "Women . . . Fooey!"

I'm one of the fellows who is making the world safe for democracy. I fought and fought, but I had to go anyway. I was called in Class A. The next time I want to be Class B. (B here when they go and B here when they come back).

I remember when I registered. I went up to a desk and the man in charge was my milkman. He said, "What's your name?" I said, "Oh, you know my name." He said, "What's YOUR NAME?" I said, "August Childs." He said, "Are you Alien?" I said, "No, I feel fine." He asked me where I was born and I told him in Pittsburgh.

"When did you first see the light of day?", he asked. "When we moved to Philadelphia," I replied. He asked me how old I was, so I told him 23, the first day of September." "The first day of September," he said, "You'll be in China, and that will be the last of August."

Then I went to Camp, and I guess they didn't think I would live long, 'cause the first fellow I saw wrote on my card, "Flying Corps." I went a little farther and some fellow said, "Look what the wind is blowing in." "Wind nothing," I said, "the draft is doing it." On the second morning they put these clothes on me. What an outfit. As soon as you are in it, you think you could fight anybody. They have two sizes—too small and too big. The pants were so tight I couldn't sit down. The shoes were so big that I turned around three times and they didn't move. What a raincoat they gave me. It strained the rain. I passed an officer, all dressed up with a fancy belt and stuff, and he called after me, "Didn't you notice my uniform when you passed me?" "Yes," I said, "What are you kicking about? Look at what they gave me."

One morning it was about five degrees below and they called us out for underwear inspection. Talk about scenery—red flannels, BVD's.

all kinds. The unionsuit I had on would fit Tony Galento. The Lieutenant lined us up and told us to stand up. I said, "I am up, Sir, but this underwear makes you think I'm sitting down." He got so mad that he put me out digging ditches. A little later he passed me and said, "Don't throw that dirt up here." I said, "Where am I going to put it?" He said, "Dig another hole and put it in there."

Three days later we sailed for Australia. Marching down the pier, I had the worst luck! I had a Sergeant who stuttered, and it took him so long to say "Halt" that 27 of us marched overboard. They pulled us out and lined us up on the pier. The Captain came by and said, "Fall in." I said, "I have been in, Sir." I was on the boat 12 days, seasick for 12 days. Nothing going in and everything coming up. I leaned over the rail all the time. In the middle of one of the boat leans, the Captain rushed up to me and said,

"What company are you in?" I replied, "I'm all by myself, Sir." He asked me if the Brigadier was up yet. I said, "If I swallowed it, it's up." Talk about dumb people. I said to one of the fellows, "I guess they dropped anchor." He replied, "I knew they'd lose it—it's been hanging out ever since we left New York."

Well, we landed and were immediately sent up to the front. After three nights there, the cannons started to roar and the shells started to pop. I was shaking with patriotism, and I tried to hide behind a tree, but there weren't even enough trees for the officers. The Captain came around and said, "We go over the top at 5 o'clock." I said, "Captain, I'd like to have a furlough." He said, "Haven't you any red blood in you?" I said, "Yes, Sir, but I don't want to see any of it."

At five o'clock we went over the top, and 10,000 Japs came at us. The way they looked at me, you'd think I had started the war! Our Captain yelled, "Fire at Will." I didn't know anybody by the name of Will. I guess the fellow behind me thought I was Will, because he fired and shot me in the excitement.

The moon was yellow,
The lane was bright,
As he turned to me
In the Autumn night,
And every gesture,
And every glance,
Gave a hint
That he craved romance.
I stammered, stuttered,
And time went by
The moon was yellow
AND SO WAS I.

A man visiting a psychiatrist:
"My family thinks I'm crazy," he informed the doctor sadly, "just because I happen to like pancakes."
The doctor was amazed. "How foolish!" he exclaimed. "Why, I like pancakes myself."
"You do," cried the fellow happily. "Would you want to come up sometime and see mine? I have two trunks full!"
