Design for Life
Tuesday, August 26th
9:00 a.m. via Zoom

Despite the desire to age in place, many Alaska seniors struggle to do so safely due to challenges navigating their homes. The Design for Life community forum will explore key features to include in homes that can enhance safety and independence for people of all ages through remodeling or building new homes. National experts from the RL Mace Universal Design Institute will discuss:

- Information and examples of age friendly, universal design that is accessible and attractive
- Benefits of a universal design approach
- Strategies for building universal design homes in Juneau including demonstrations, design competitions, code changes, and incentives to encourage change
