Greetings.

I just wanted to make you aware that helicopter noise is a growing issue, to wit the attached (& copied below) screen shot (of a flight tracker app) I took of an overflight that woke me at 6:48am on Sunday Aug 30. Helicopter over flights <7am have become increasingly common this summer (I do not recall any in previous years) and increase exponentially the frustration associated with constant over flights during the day due to glacier flight seeing.

I would greatly appreciate the VITF addressing and remediating this issue.

Thank you.
Nathan Stewart
